'Vicar's Thoughts' for February

As we enter February, I'm sure many of us have thought: "Well, that's January done with...one more month until Spring" (I certainly have!). Yet thankfully, even in February, we begin to see the morning light arriving earlier and the day lasting longer: daylight is winning, Spring is on its way!

As we start off our month with that wonderful reading from Luke 2, marking The Presentation, we're reminded again that the power of light in the darkness of our world is winning. The 'Light of the World' - just 40 days old at this point - has already been shining into the darkness of Bethlehem's streets. And now, as He arrives at Israel's capital city, here at last is 'the new temple within the old temple.' And as His mother stands there in the building where the Jews believed that heaven and earth touched, here now is the Light of the World, the person in whom God and humanity meet. The prophet Malachi was right: "Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come." [Malachi 3.1b].

This is such a powerful moment. From now on, every time Jesus would come anywhere near the Jewish Temple, strange things would take place. Throughout His public ministry there would be this clash of powers between Jesus and the religious authorities because really, there just wasn't room for two temples in the worshipping life of Israel. Yes, He'd come to fulfil the Jewish Law and not do away with it, yet in doing so, Jesus would be ushering in something new into the national life of Israel and the rest of the world: the Kingdom of God - new wine into new wineskins. The child would grow up publicly declaring the love of His Father for all humankind, yet in coming to "that which was his own... his own did not receive him" [John 1.11] Ultimately, after many such clashes (inside and outside the temple), it would culminate in His death upon the cross: the sword that would pierce His mother's heart.

As we move towards longer daylight hours, may we carry that great hope within our spirits, that the "light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it" [John 1.5]. We worship the 'Light of the World', the 'Bright Morning Star'. He has, as Isaiah declared, punched a hole in the shroud of darkness which covers the earth, and as our resurrected King, Jesus is coming back to drench the world in Kingdom light and do away with all suffering, pain, sickness, misery and death once and for all. He is our hope. And so, as many are fond of saying these days, "Don't worry: God has got this!", let us use the feast of The Presentation to lift our spirits above the darkness of Winter and take to heart the great Spring hope of the New Testament from John, the author of Revelation: "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last, the Beginning and the End...Yes, I am coming soon." [Revelation 22.13,20b]
